

We can say that the earth moved when Greg King met the Department at the Columbia Tower in downtown Seattle last May. After the (5+) quake, Greg calmly asked our Alumni President Doug Cameron if we have "many of these earthquakes" in the Seattle area. Doug, already having assured our new Department Chair that it doesn't rain "much" in Seattle, responded "no, not really." Was that the deciding factor in Dr. King's move to Seattle? Well, no, not really...

We are proud to heartily welcome Dr. Greg King as the fifth Chairman of the Orthodontic Department since its inception in the late 1940's. After an international search of excellent candidates, Greg was offered the position and began his move from Gainesville, Florida, where he served as Department Chairman from 1982-1996.

Raised on the east coast in New Hampshire and near Cape Cod, Greg received his A.B. degree in biology from Brown University in 1965 and his D.M.D. from Tufts University School of Dental Medicine in 1969. He held positions as a research fellow at M.I.T. in nutrition and in orthopedics at Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston before receiving his orthodontic certificate and D.M.S.c. degrees from Harvard.

Orthodontic Department Welcomes New Chair

Dr. Greg King

In 1980, Greg won the prestigious Milo Hellman award essay from the American Association of Orthodontists. He has reviewed in numerous scholarly journals, including the AJO, Angle Orthodontist, Archives of Oral Biology, and the Journal of Dental Research. He is a member of OKU and is a diplomate of the American Board of Orthodontics. In addition, Greg served for a number of years on the Study Section of the National Institute for Dental Research.

Greg is looking forward to working in our environment of committed, creative people, with diverse perspectives on education, patient care and research. As Greg begins his tenure here, he is collaborating closely with faculty and staff to move forward.

Greg moved to Seattle with his wife, Pat, whom he met in the sixth (sixth!) grade. Pat's background is in law; she has extensive experience working as a legal services attorney in Florida. While Pat is currently "retired," she is keeping her options open about future activities. The Kings have two grown children: Jeff (27), a civil engineer currently working in the Washington D.C. area; and Caroline (25), who is using her Masters degree in Latin American Studies as she works with a homeless shelter in Gainesville, Florida. For now, Pat and Greg are busy settling into their rental house near the UW and just getting to know the city. They are avid hikers. To say that Greg is a runner is to put it mildly; he has participated in over 14 marathons, including the Boston Marathon (twice!). While he believes his marathon days may be history, Greg still enjoys running and mountain biking.

We are delighted to have Greg on board as our new Chairman and look forward to getting to know Greg and Pat in the months ahead.

Message from the President - Doug Cameron

My tenure as your alumni President is rapidly drawing to a close and it won't be long before our President-elect, Bruce Hawley ('77), will be taking over the reins after the Alumni Reunion in July.

Bruce Hawley reports that the Alumni Reunion in Seattle, July 25-29, 1997, will be the best ever. Stan Hall ('79), the Program Chairman, has lined up Lennart Wieslander ('60), Bill Profit ('63), David Sarver, Peter Sinclair ('81), Vince Kokich ('74), and Douglas Trimble, all outstanding headline speakers. Each class is encouraged to organize a class party or other get-togethers Saturday night the 26th of July. Banquets, golf, tennis, boat cruise on Lake Washington and many more activities are scheduled, so plan on bringing the entire family back to Seattle to enjoy the terrific meeting and beautiful summer. Register NOW!

It is exciting to have Greg King here as permanent Chairman of the Orthodontic Department. He hails from Gainesville, FL, and has been Chairman of the Orthodontic Department at the University of Florida for the last ten years. Greg and his wife, Pat, are a delightful couple and we'll plan many opportunities for you to get to know them better.

In the past, the Department has relied on the income generated from the Alumni Endowment along with other sources of income to sustain the research activities in the Department. Well, most of the other sources of income have dried up, so the Department is relying heavily now on the income from the Alumni Endowment. We are very grateful to the majority of alumni who continue to pay the annual dues as well as join the Century Club ($1000+ donation), Founder's Club ($5000+ donation) and the Chairman's Circle ($10000+ donation). Your donations are allowing us to meet this challenge.

Many alums have discovered that asking the responsible parties to pay a portion or all of the usual treatment fee by making checks payable to the "UW Orthodontic Alumni Association" works well when treating friends, referring dentists' children or other professionals, particularly when neither party is comfortable with a reduced fee or no fee for treatment. After the completion of successful orthodontic treatment, some patients may express a sentiment of gratitude by making a tax-deductible contribution to the UW Orthodontic Alumni Association. Your donations are crucial to sustain the departmental clinical and scientific research especially during this time of transition.

Your Alumni officers and Board have been very active for the last four years and I owe them a great debt of gratitude for their faithful attendance at all the meetings and willingness to do whatever job is needed to keep our organization energized and active. Your President-elect, Bruce Hawley, has been organizing the reunion for the past two years. Tim Shields ('83), our Treasurer, has been guarding the purse strings of your donations and making sure your money has been spent and invested wisely.

Jim Nelson ('66), Jim Elder ('73) and Dave Rice ('69) will be officially leaving the Board and they will be hard to replace. Bruce Molen ('72), Diane Doppel ('90), and Ward Damon ('75) have been on the Board for the last four years and have agreed to stay on the Board for another four years. Charlie Gilmore ('83) has recently been elected by the Board to be the new Secretary-Treasurer of the Alumni Association. Many thanks to the Board for all they've done!

I also want to thank our Executive Director, Joni Marts, for her inspiration, hard work and good organizational skills that have been instrumental to our Association.

As the year winds down, I want to thank the Alumni Association for the privilege of serving as your President for the last four years. It has been a terrific experience working for the Department and all the alumni who mean so much to me.

The Alumni Association will host a reception at the AAO meeting in Philadelphia early in May. I hope to see you there as well as at the Reunion in July. In the meantime, have a wonderful Holiday Season!

LET'S CATCH UP

Don Gardener ('79) has retired from orthodontics and is pursuing a new career in art sculpture. Here is Don with his bronze sculpture "Wild Turkey," which is showing at his Cornerstone Gallery of Fine Art in Littleton, CO.

In addition to moving into his new office, Michael Sebastian ('87)) took advantage of living in Atlanta during the Olympics. He went to many of the events (track & field, gymnastics & boxing), at the same time enjoying a 50% less-than-normal level of traffic!

Lennart Wieslander ('60) writes that it was wonderful to see Myrna and Al Moore as special guests at the 25th Anniversary meeting of the Angle Society of Europe in Arosa, Switzerland in January. Al, an honorary member, was a key person when the ASE was born 25 years ago. His anniversary speech was very well received. Lennart also reports that son Peter is now an orthodontic colleague, having opened his orthodontic office in Zurich.

Chuck ('90) and Keri Alexander have moved to "one of the prettiest places in the world" - Montrose Colorado!

Erik ('59) and Louise Pihl celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary. They recent planted 65 nut trees, with plans to cut them down upon maturity and use the lumber to build a "nut house" to live in after retirement! He writes that he "loves the clinical aspect of orthodontics - detest the business aspect and the influence of greed."

Louis Metzner ('77) writes that "to ensure that I will have lovely new grandchildren to play with when I am 80 years old, I have having additional children now in my 50's. Analisa and I have a new 9 month old lovely daughter, Monique, to go along with 2 1/2 year old Max."

Donald Montano ('87) sold his satellite office (down to one office now) and is turning into an "ol' boy from Bakersfield" as he has moved to 5 acres and built a barn for the horses!

Dave ('84) and Lea Crouch were married in June 1996. (Dave has moved "for the last time" to University Place in Tacoma.)

Doug ('95) and Arlene Knight were married in August 1996 and spent a "wonderful week in Maui."

Ron Allen ('69) shows off his catch of the day: a 40 pound King Salmon!

Just how many fish can one family catch? Ron Allen ('69), sons and grandson gather at Kenal River and show us how its done with their 40, 50 and 60 pound King salmon! Way to go, guys! Ron is now practicing with son, Trevor.

LET'S CATCH UP

Tom Popp ('90) welcomed new son Bryon Noel Popp 12/26/95. Congratulations Tom and Starr! In addition Tom has a new partner in orthodontic practice - Dr. Denny Standifer.

Robert Bendzak ('65) says that "doing orthodontics is easier than operating a fishing resort in British Columbia; golf is more difficult than either."

Fred Hassig ('69) writes that "classmates Andy Collins, Fred Hassig, Jim Quessenberry, and Ken Norwick, along with their wives, met in northern Michigan in September. Quessenberry and Hassig matched their golf skills against the luck of Collins and Norwick. SKILL prevailed for two days, but on the final day mathematical incompetence succeeded along with luck and Norwick and Collins motored home in their matching Brinks trucks.

Rebecca Poling ('84) is happily settled with her family in their new home in Anchorage, Alaska..

Bill McNeill ('64) continued his South Pacific adventures by sailing single-handed from Raiatea in French Polynesia's Iles Sous le Vent to the North Island of New Zealand between July and November, 1995. Stops along the way included Bora Bora, Suwarrow Atoll in the Northern Cook Islands, Pago Pago, American Samoa, and the Vavau and Tongatapu groups in the Kingdom of Tonga. After returning to the US for the holidays and some skiing, Bill and Linda returned to New Zealand for two months of touring the South Island in a campervan at the termination of which Bill gave a one-day course for the New Zealand Association of Orthodontists in Wellington.

Wayne Bolton ('52) retired in 1985 to continue research and develop his Yakima orchard into a 9-home residential community "The Cobblestone." He then built home #10 on 7 acres of San Juan Island wooded land. Wayne entertains his grandchildren there and now utilizes and enjoys his "three favorite toys: truck, tractor, and chain saw." Wayne would love to hear from you when you're visiting the islands.

One of the homes featured at "The Cobblestone" in Yakima.

Lasting Impressions - Wit & Witicisms of Note

George Oviedo to Bob Kelly ('59). "I tried that once and it did not work." Riedel: "Try it - might work."

Dick Riedel: (faculty) "The only way to prevent lower incisor relapse is to remove the lower incisors."

Peter Shapiro: ('73) "Any resemblance between the position of a band when it is fit and after it is cemented is purely coincidental."

James Hansel: ('70) "It's time to take 'em off."

Paul Lewis: (faculty) "It's not the number of starts that makes you money - it's the number you finish."

Pete Bishop: (faculty) (after looking at an archwire which had been fabricated): "Beautiful as a sunset."

Dick Riedel: (when one of the students had left an archwire in the oven 6 minutes, rather than the requested 3 minutes): "6 minutes, 8 minutes, 10 minutes - what the hell difference does it make?"

Denny Turner: ('71) "I had John Grubb's Class III surgical case come in post op V - I had the patient hold his mandible forward. John just about had a heart attack!"

LET'S CATCH UP

On September 24, 1996, Jean Pierre Joho received the prestigious Doctor Honoris Causa from the University of Athens, Greece, in a ceremony in his honor. Jean Pierre remarked in his acceptance speech that "treating children is the most joyful activity in dentistry - it is no work - it is a blessing!" As Chairman of the Orthodontic Department at the University of Geneva, Switzerland, he was also certainly qualified to say "clinical experience means: repeating the same clinical error over and over again - with increasing self-confidence." His acceptance speech, before the congress, highlighted the accomplishments of the pediatric and orthodontic department of the University in the past and the direction of dentistry in the future.

Jean-Pierre Joho ('71)

Andrew Houg ('60) sold his practice to Dr. Waiteng Koh. A dental history is carrying on though: his youngest daughter is a general dentist practicing in Bothell, WA. Middle daughter, Lynn is a dental hygienist and his daughter-in-law, Robin, is a dental assistant.

Tom Pitts ('70) and son Arnie ('96) have joined forces to practice together in Reno, NV. Says Tom: "We're having a great time!"

Distinguished Alumni

We are pleased to acknowledge the accomplishments of our alumni as they carry on in their profession. Kudos go to:

- ◆ Jean-Pierre Joho ('71) Chairman, University of Geneva
- ◆ Lennart Wieslander, Dean & Chairman, University of Basel
- ◆ R.J. Dmytruk ('74) served as Chairman of Orthodontics at the University of Alberta in Edmonton, Canada from 1974-1979.
- ◆ Robert Sutherlin ('64) currently serving a 2nd term on the PCSO Board of Directors as Alaska's first representative on the Board.
- ◆ David Kennedy ('81) presented at the Biennial ANGLE meeting in Aspen in Fall 1995.

The Puget Sound Study Club meets at the Pine Point Resort on Curlew Lake in eastern Washington for a weekend of fishing, golf, firesides and play. The golf scores weren't great, but a lot of fish were caught and it was a lot of fun...

The kids brought their folks for the Puget Sound Study Club retreat.

John Ive ('79) receives the annual "biggest fish" trophy from master carver Jim Hansel ('70).

Don't give up your day job! Stan Hall ('79) and Roy Gunsolus (faculty) serve em up.

Meet Our 1997 Graduates!

John R. Almond is originally from Idaho Falls, Idaho. He studied business finance at Brigham Young University where he met and married his wife, Ann, in 1989. After graduating with honors from the University of Washington Dental School in 1995, he immediately entered the orthodontic program. John and Ann have two beautiful girls: Laren is 3 and Alyse is 9 months. John loves to spend time with his family. In his spare time, John enjoys golf, basketball, and tennis. Following graduation, John and Ann plan to reside in Western Washington.

Ross James Drangsholt was born and raised in Kent, WA. He received his B.S. in Zoology from the University of Washington in 1988. Ross graduated with honors from the School of Dentistry at the University of Washington. After dental school, Ross practiced general dentistry for three years, in addition to teaching part time as clinical instructor at the University of Washington. Ross' wife, Beth O'Connor, also a dentist, is expecting their second child in January 1997.

Francine Lo was born and raised in Prince George, British Columbia. She attended the University of Western Ontario in London, Ontario, where she received her B.A. in 1988 and subsequently a D.D.S. in 1992. Francine practiced general dentistry for three years in British Columbia before returning to graduate school to pursue orthodontics. Her husband and father are both orthodontists practicing together in Prince George, B.C. After graduating, Francine plans to join the family office up in the Great White North. Francine looks forward to the return of snow, skiing, and snowboarding!

*We look forward to the Altone Moore
Lecture, June 13, 1997, where our graduates will present their research!*

KARA J MCCULLOCH was born and raised in Vancouver, B.C. She attended the University of British Columbia from 1986 to 1994 completing degrees in both Biopsychology and Dentistry. Following dental school, she practiced general dentistry for one year in Vancouver before returning to graduate school in orthodontics. Kara's husband, Gavin Dry, is also attending the University of Washington, where he is completing a residency in Plastic Surgery. Following graduate school, both Kara and Gavin are hoping to stay in the Seattle area.

RAVI SAWHNEY was born and bred in Raleigh, NC. He traveled 20 miles west to Chapel Hill to pursue undergraduate studies at UNC. There he fenced for the varsity team, did research in molecular developmental biology, and earned a B.S. in Biology with highest honors in 1989. Research interests took him to the University of Zurich, for seven grueling months in Switzerland. He spent the following year as a Rotary Foundation Scholar at the University of Sydney in Australia, then returned home for Dental School. After receiving his D.D.S. with Honors from UNC in 1995, Ravi moved directly to Seattle. After graduation, he will be practicing orthodontics one day per week, while working full time toward a Ph.D. in a basic science, as a part of the UW Dentist Scientist Award program.

DAFNA SHASHUA was born and raised in Tel Aviv, Israel. She attended the Hebrew University - Hadassah School of dental Medicine in Jerusalem, Israel, where she received her B.Sc. with honors in 1987 and then combined a D.M.D. & M.Sc. (the latter with highest honors) in 1990. Dafna's M.Sc. topic was biomineralization in the rat condyle. She practiced general dentistry for four years in Israel before returning to graduate school to pursue orthodontics at the UW in Seattle. After graduation, she plans to practice orthodontics and engage in teaching.

Alton Moore Lecture Features Katherine Vig

Once again, the Alton Moore Lectureship attracted a crowd at the Four Seasons Olympic Hotel. This year, distinguished orthodontist Katherine Vig joined the 1996 graduates for a day of informative and interesting topics. Here are a few moments from the day.....

The Halls of Orthodontics! "No, No we're not related," claim Stan Hall ('79) and Daniel Hall ('96). You'd never know it by their ties!

The Drs. Pitts: Dad Tom, '70, and son Arnie, '96, are really smiling now that they have officially become orthodontic partners.

Guest speaker Katherine Vig is joined by Alumni President Doug Cameron ('71) and Guest of Honor, Dr. Alton Moore.

Scott Ostler (l, '93), joins Claire Ferrari ('94) and Dave Crouch ('84) to catch up on the past year's activities.
